

Algorithms and Execution Policies Exercises

Algorithms and exceptions

- Write a program which calls a C++11 algorithm function with a callable object
- Modify the program so that the callable object throws an exception which is handled in a catch block by the caller
- Write a similar program in which the algorithm function uses an execution policy
- Explain the difference in the results